Oregon, Missouri.
FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 3, 1897.

New Order of Things in Florida.
The fraternalization of planters and freedmen, begun at the Wade Hampton meeting in Columbia, S. C., has extended to Florida. The Pensacola Observer brings a report of a meeting of white and colored citizens, at which the speakers were Mr. Malory, a member of Jeff. Davis' Cabinet; a white officer of a Union negro regiment, and Hays Satterwhite, an old colored man, the counterpart, apparently, of Beverly Nash. Their speeches breathed the spirit of the Columbia meeting. Malory counseled a frank acceptance of the situation, a ready compliance with the law, and the cultivation of friendly relations between whites and blacks. He declared that the negroes, being free, are entitled to, and may be safely trusted with the franchise, and he called upon the whites to do all that is possible to promote their improvement in order that the friendly relations of the two races may be assured. The colored speaker, as well as the white speakers, condemned the separate organization of the blacks as a political party. The meeting, it is said, is one of several of the same character that have been held in Florida.

Remarkable Movements Among the Jews of Bombay.
The following statement is represented to be made on the authority of the Indian Portuguese, a Portuguese journal published at Goa:

"Great excitement has been caused among the Jews at Bombay by the publication by their pointiff, H. B. Kohn, 'member of the family of Aaron,' who has lately come to Bombay from Jerusalem, of a pamphlet, under the title, 'The Voice of the Vigilant'—the object of this voice being to persuade the Jews that it is useless waiting longer for the promised Messiah, as this is Jesus Christ himself, whose doctrines have been spread all over the world without sound or force. The Voice is said to use arguments which are solid and conclusive. 'Compare,' says the pointiff, 'the Old and New Testament, and the truth will be seen.' He also adds that he was born in the law, and under it was elevated to the pontification, but the light had already penetrated with its rays into the deep recess of his mind, and he is therefore persuaded, and with well founded reasons, that it is in vain that the Messiah is now looked for."

Execution.
On Thursday last, Alfred Teufel was hung in Doylestown, Pa., for the murder of Captain Willey. Before his execution, in an interview with a reporter, Teufel said he was engaged in the robbery of the Mississippi steamer, Mary E. Forsyth, in 1862 or 1863. They drugged the clerk of the steamer, and then robbed the office of $15,000. He was connected with the robbery of one of Adams Express Company's cars in Ohio some time since; he was not directly in the robbery, but had a share of the proceeds; that the bonds then obtained were destroyed, but some $20,000 in green-backs were divided. There were four engaged in the robbery; of these, three had been caught, but one was yet loose. He lived by stealing and speculating, and in order to maintain an apparently respectable position sometimes purchased and sent live stock from St. Joseph to St. Louis; that in two years he lost all his property, amounting to one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in endeavoring in partnership with one John Greene to run a wagon train of clothes and merchandise from St. Joseph to Pike's Peak; he also acknowledged participating in various robberies, but always escaped detection by travelling alone and trusting no one.—[Union, 23.]

The latest idea in wedding invitations, has become extremely fashionable. It is the fashion among the English aristocracy. Instead of a single or pair of wedding cards, as formerly, the envelope now contains one card, with the names of the mother and father of the bride, and one with those of the parents of the bridegroom; then the Mr. and Mrs. card; then the maiden card of the bride, and the card of the bridegroom; then the invitation on embossed note paper for the Church, and finally the card giving invitation to the receptions.

A few years ago there dwelt an old couple in a dilapidated shanty in the suburbs of Richmond, with no one to wait upon them but a grand-daughter about eleven years of age. One Sunday the old woman went to church, leaving the old man and the child in the shanty. Whilst engaged in her devotions the little girl ran breathless into the sanctuaries, exclaiming, "Grandma, O, grandma! the house has fallen in and killed grandpa." The old dame's only remark was: "What! I'll bet fifty dollars my pipe's broke."

Why Masons Celebrate the 24th day of June—St. John's day.
Masonic Lodges in ancient times were dedicated to King Solomon. Tradition informs us that they were thus dedicated from the building of the first temple at Jerusalem to the Babylonish captivity. From that time to the coming of the Messiah, they were dedicated to Zerubabel, builder of the second temple, and from that time to the final destruction of the temple by Titus, in the reign of the Emperor Vespasian, they were dedicated to St. John the Baptist.

Owing to the many massacres and disorders which attended that memorable event, Free masonry fell very much into decay. Many of the lodges were broken up and but few could meet with sufficient members to constitute their legality. Under these circumstances a general meeting of the craft was held in the city of Benjamin, when it was observed that the reason for the decline of Masonry was the want of a Grand Master to direct its affairs. They therefore deputed seven of their most eminent members to wait upon St. John the Evangelist, who was at that time Bishop of Ephesus, to request him to take the office of Grand Master. He returned answer that though well stricken in years, (being upward of ninety) but having been in the earlier part of his life initiated into Masonry, he would take upon himself that office. He did so, and completed by his learning what St. John the Baptist had accomplished by his zeal. After his decease the Christian Lodges were dedicated to him and St. John the Baptist, both of them being regarded as eminent Christian patrons of Masonry. Since then Masons have ever celebrated the 24th of June in commemoration of St. John the Baptist, and the 27th of December in commemoration of St. John the Evangelist.

Why Women Cannot Enter Masonic Lodges.
Frequent complaints are made by ladies in relation to Masonry, and their principal arguments are that their husbands have no business to do anything that they cannot tell their wives—that that which is secret must be wrong—that it is only a mean excuse, and so on. One branch of the subject seems, however to be capable of legendary explanation, and the Norfolk Journal publishes thereon the following paragraph:

When King Solomon was still a young man he had married his seventh wife. She was a young Ammonitess, with locks as black as the raven's wing, and eyes as bright as the eagle's. It was believed that she was the favored fair one among all the sultanas of the Greek King, for his affections were not divided then as they afterwards became. She knew his power, and used it unsparringly, in addition to her other qualities, she was as inquisitive as ever was a woman on this earth.

One evening King Solomon attended a lodge on some grand occasion, and staid out somewhat late. When he returned home, he found the fair Ammonitess in the dumps and pouting just like the dear wives of Masons do sometimes now when their lords stay out too late at the lodge. She upbraided him with neglecting her, insinuating that he hadn't been to the lodge as he pretended, and insisted that in future he should give proof that he went there by having herself initiated, so that she might go there and watch him.

"Daughter of Ammon," replied the King, "thou hast behaved thyself as one of the foolish women, in presuming to question thy lord and master. Thou art not so angry with me as thou pretendest to be for the true reason of this behavior is thy insatiable curiosity, in which thou excellest Eve herself. Know, then, that I here ordain that neither thou nor any of thy inquisitive sex after thee, ever enter the portals of a Masonic Lodge, but I shall enjoin the Tyler to pierce through with his sword any woman that shall attempt to enter a lodge; aye, even thee, Queen of Israel though thou be!" And that ordinance of the wisest of monarchs has continued in force till this day.

"FATHER, are you going to see the race to-day?" Father, brightening up—"What race, my son?" "The human race," was the astonishing reply. Husband to wife—"Mary Ann, that boy will be an editor yet." Wife—"God forbid!"

An exchange says: We feel confident that the steam steed will end its way through our emerald vales ere the leafy livery of nature dons the sober hues of autumn. This means that the cars will be running next summer.

A Virginia negro, according to an exchange, on hearing that Congress was going to give lands to the darkies, said: "Land, de debil! I's free now, and don't want no land. I's gwine to get wums and go fishin'."

SMITH asked Jones what the high price of butter was owing to. "A considerable part of it is owing to my grocer," said Jones, "for it is two months since I have paid him."

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig.
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig.
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxurious hair.
Reparator Capilli.
For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or their hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It is certainly difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have ready thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given.
